Did you know??

Perth's suburbs contain unique plant and animal species, some found nowhere else.

This biodiversity or 'variety of life' is under threat as natural areas and wildlife are displaced by urban development, the impacts of climate change and introduced species.

Your garden, no matter the size, can be a part of the solution!

Let's ReWild Together!

Gardens, courtyards, and even balconies can provide:

- Natural resources: food and water to sustain wildlife.
- Safe havens: spaces for you to enjoy that also support wildlife to live in your garden.
- Nature links: become a habitat stepping-stone, connecting urban habitats so plants and animals can live and move through the landscape.
